DODATKOWE INFORMACJE

High Efficiency Video Coding (HEVC) – standard kompresji wideo opracowany jako następca H.264/MPEG-4 AVC (Advanced Video Coding). HEVC miał zwiększyć dwukrotnie kompresję danych w porównaniu do H.264/MPEG-4 AVC przy zachowaniu tej samej jakości obrazu. Wspiera rozdzielczości do 8192x4320, co sprawia że jest kodekiem zdolnym do kompresowania strumieni UHD TV.
